GOV. COX OF OHIO NOMINATED BY DEMOCRATS FOR PRESIDENCY.

San Francisco, July 6.—(By Associated Press.)—James M. Cox, three times governor of Ohio, was nominated for the presidency early this morning by the Democratic national convention in the breakup of one of the most prolonged deadlocks in the history of national political parties.

It took forty-four ballots to make a choice, and it was not until the thirty-eighth when Attorney-General Palmer withdrew from the race that the long succession of roll calls showed any definite trend.

In the turnover of the Palmer delegation Cox gained the advantage over William G. McAdoo, his rival for first place since early in the balloting, and that advantage was never lost.

Supporters of Gov. Cox won a way to the nomination by persistent battering at the McAdoo and Palmer forces in many states throughout a long series of shiftings and rallies which left now one and then another of the candidates in the lead.

On the opening ballot Friday the Ohio governor was in third place. He soon passed Palmer, however, and on the twelfth ballot went ahead of McAdoo. Then began a see-sawing between the Cox and McAdoo totals which at the end of the 29th roll call at midnight found the two virtually the same.

On the forty-second ballot the accession of most of the Palmer strength to Cox put him well ahead, and after that great and little state delegations went into the Cox column in a procession. On the forty-third he got a majority for the first time of all the votes cast and on the forty-fourth he was plunging toward the required two-thirds when Colorado changed its vote to him and made the nomination obvious. It was made unanimous on motion of Sam B. Amidon of Kansas a leader of the McAdoo forces.

Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, assistant secretary of the navy, was chosen the vice-presidential nominee by the unanimous choice of the convention.

The Sentinel will publish a sketch of both men in next week's issue.
